To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to recommend to you Melony Burnett, a member of Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society, the largest and most prestigious honor society serving colleges around the world. Melony was inducted into the Sigma Zeta Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa while attending Lane Community College.

To be invited to membership in Phi Theta Kappa, Melony earned high academic standing with a class rank in the top 10 percent. Phi Theta Kappa requires members to maintain high academic standing for the duration of enrollment at the college.

Established in 1918, Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society recognizes and encourages the academic achievement of college students and provides opportunities for individual growth and development through honors, leadership, and service programming. Membership in the Society reflects discipline, determination, and an innate desire to succeed. Active involvement demonstrates servant leadership, communication skills, and emerging leadership talent.

Since its founding, Phi Theta Kappa has inducted more than 3.5 million members and chartered nearly 1,300 chapters in 11 nations. Membership is a great honor, and members like Melony are among the best of the best at their institutions.

Sincerely,

Lynn Tincher-Ladner, Ph.D.
